

Senior Design Engineer

We are looking for a creative Senior Design Engineer to incorporate their analog and digital design skills to develop new dc-dc converters that will lead the industry. The candidate should be an innovative hands-on individual responsible for all aspects of the design from concept to pilot run. The job requires a project leader who can maintain performance to plan. Although the primary requirements of this position are for an individual with the technical skills mentioned above, an Engineering Manager who wishes to devote most of their time to design would also be an excellent match.

Requirements: Three or more years design experience BSEE or equivalent
